The ISTE Live 24 Conference and Expo is presented by the International Society for Technology in Education (ISTE). The program comprises submissions from around the world selected by an independent panel of expert local, regional, national and international reviewers. The program reflects best practices and research to harness the power of technology to improve students' learning. Solutions are proposed for a variety of learning environments, districts, community colleges, educational agencies and university programs.

Thank you for your support of ISTE Live 24; we hope to see you at future conferences!
