New announcement from Jeremy Logsdon

Eid Mubarak! Class is moved online today for those of you celebrating!

Hello all,

Eid Mubarak! I know not all of you are Muslim, but the majority of you are, and I know this is a holy day, so we are moving class online.

I'll post a discussion board activity and assignment for you to do later this morning in place of today's class. For those of you who are not celebrating, I would encourage you to do this during class time. I will actually be in our classroom from 1:50 to do this with you in person, but any of you may do this activity/class replacement asynchronously outside of class. You will have until Sunday night to complete the discussion board activity.

Remember that our paper is still due.

Thanks,

Dr. Logsdon
