New announcement from Jeremy Logsdon

Power Outage and Extensions

Hello all,

I should have sent this email on Friday, and my apologies for not thinking of it until now.

I realize that many of you are without power due to the storms on Friday.

Please do not worry about this class until you get your power back on. I am more than happy to give extensions as needed. I know some of you may be without power for another 2-4 days yet, and I don't want you to stress about this when there are other things taking up mental real estate right now.

Just let me know when you can and as you are able if you'll need an extension. If you can't get that in today, that's fine, too. There won't be any penalties for this week's work being late.

Thanks,

Dr. Logsdon
