Good Morning,

Yes, you will just do the observations with her long-term placement.

Thank you,
Shannon

Shannon,

I was going to see Erionna on Tuesday, so that I could witness her under her mentor teacher before she moved to her long-term sub placement. However, the teacher she is subbing for ended up going in to labor last night, so she'll be in her long-term sub placement on Monday.

I am assuming I should just still plan to do four observations, as I would under anyone else who was a long-term sub? I hate that we didn't get the one observation in, but baby had other plans.

Let me know your thoughts! No rush – this can absolutely keep 'til Monday.

Jeremy

Hello!

My teacher is having her baby tonight! I will be in her room starting Monday! You can let me know what you would like to do!

Thanks!
