I'm quite wide open on Thursday at the moment. Any particular time? Say 1 p.m.?

I look forward to reviewing the revised 537. I'm sure you have done an amazing job, as usual. Thursday afternoon works good for me next week.

Things are well! I hope things are well with you and yours also!

Could we find a time to meet next week? I'll go ahead and add you to my course site from this past spring, which is the first time we've taught it in this new, revised version, so you can start looking at the modules. It only has 4 learning modules, but each one has them producing a fairly significant educational artifact on some topic related to ed tech management.

Next week, as of right now, it looks like I have the best availability on Thursday afternoon or Friday.

Good morning, Jeremy,

I hope all is well with you and your family!

Andi asked me to email you to connect about teaching LITE 537 in the spring. What is a good time for you to talk or Zoom?

Have a great holiday weekend!
