This sounds like a good plan! If we get in trouble, we can share the blame ;)

Thank you AGAIN for being such a strong resource for me this year. If I can support you in a similar way in the future, please don't hesitate to ask.

I see no reason why you couldn't start it today. I say the quicker the better!

I'm just thinking out loud here. At the last Grad Council, we got pre-approval to do this meeting electronically, so we don't have to vote on that.

I see no reason why this wouldn't work. The only thing that occurs to me is that we need a second for the minutes approval, so the first email reply saying a motion to approve counts for the motion, and then a second email from someone saying "Seconded" would then lead to the vote for the minutes approval.

I agree that when you send that, you could also send a message asking for a motion to approve the GCCC report, and since that is a standing committee, we don't need a second, so a "motion" email would prompt the GCCC vote.

I think you would probably want to make sure you hit quorum on the minutes (which is 11 people) before you send the vote for the GCCC.

Does this make sense? I'm speaking with a lot of unearned confidence here.

Jeremy,

Just running this plan by you so you will stop me from making any boo boos.

1. I plan to make the GC agenda which will include the GCCC report.
2. in an email to GC, I will request a motion to approve the minutes. Once attained, I will send out a poll to vote on minutes. In this email, I will request a motion to approve the GCCC report.
3. once received, one final email with vote on GCCC report.
4. Done?
